Biography

Ask Dr. Gary Lysik about why he is running for public office with the Castaic Lake Water Agency and you'll get an energy infused, impassioned discussion with plenty of analogous examples thrown in about how the health and vitality of any organization is hinged upon its financial wellness. Combine that with his twenty-five years of financial management experience with Fortune 100 companies like Northrop-Grumman and Edison Enterprises (a subsidiary of Edison International), Mountains Recreation and Conservation Authority, and presently the City of Calabasas, and you'll know why Gary's been dubbed by the media and colleagues, "TOP CFO". Its an appropriate name for a financial systems developer, budget strategist, speaker, and serious contender in the 2008 election race to win the At Large Board Member seat.

Biography

Gary is frequently called to speak to professional audiences about the profound value of Transformative Accounting™. His innovative presentations and workshops on demystifying financial reporting by fine-tuning the practice of transparency are lauded.

Dr. Lysik strongly believes that sound fiscal stewardship is the spine that allows environments, where money is central to its operation, to ward off financial depression and maximize growth while inspiring public confidence. By challenging employers in both public and private sectors to Get Real with the Numbers™, Gary's leadership contributes to security, advancement, and stability.

Committed to promoting buy-in to the concept that an organization's overall readiness is irrevocably predicated on the willingness of its fund balance, Gary is passionate about introducing focused and more efficient ways of building financial strength. Gary holds both a Doctorate Degree in Educational Technology and an MBA from Pepperdine University.
